ART & DESIGN

Acrylic Painting for Beginners with Judi Trevorrow

This is a beginners acrylic painting course with step by step lessons led by demonstrations. We will look at ways to use acrylic paint and we will cover a variety of subjects. During the course students will have the opportunity to:

- interpret a variety of subjects in acrylic paint
- look at acrylic colours and how to mix them
- look at a variety of acrylic techniques

This course will be led by step by step demonstrations, which will guide you through a painting from the beginning to the end. At each stage you will see what to do and you will have a starting point to build on. Constructive guidance and advice will also be given throughout each lesson. Judi Trevorrow has been teaching for over 30 years. She teaches watercolour, acrylic paint and pastel drawing. Judi did a Foundation course in Art and Design, has an Honours degree in Fine Art and a Post Graduate Certificate in Education.

Student comments about the course: "Learning to paint under the watchful eyes of a competent teacher with freedom to be imaginative." "Painting course that leaves you enriched with new ideas and enthusiasm."

OUR LEARNERS CLAIRE VOSS-BARK

Printmaking at Penzance School of Art

"I have regularly attended Mary Crockett's printmaking classes since 2017.

"I was a beginner when I started, but I learnt so much from Mary over the 3 years to 2020 that I felt able to show some of my work at Open Studios Cornwall in September 2020, when I exhibited jointly with a friend in her studio in Newlyn. That is an indication of the confidence in my printmaking practice that I have developed through attending Mary's classes.

"Mary has an exceptional breadth of knowledge about the printmaking processes, and is able to teach all the different techniques in a very thorough and friendly way, as well as answer the myriad questions about everything to do with printmaking that the wide variety of students ask. Printmaking is very wide-ranging in its various disciplines, and Mary has extensive command of their complexities.

"It has also always been a very supportive learning environment amongst the student group. We are all developing our skills and creativity alongside each other, and whatever our entry level, there is a natural openness and friendliness about sharing developing knowledge, facilitated by Mary's supportive attitude to our learning and to the entry of new students each term. So although the primary aim of the class is not social, we find that inevitably we build relationships through that sharing, and so attendance also has a social benefit aspect, as well as the learning one.

"In addition, the fact that there are morning, afternoon and evening sessions allows for flexibility of choice. I have been to different combinations of sessions over the last three years, which have meant meeting a variety of different people, as well as building on my relationships with a central cohort of regulars, and being able to develop my creativity and understanding of techniques."

PENZANCE SCHOOL OF ART

HOW THE
COURSE LISTING
WORKS

Founded in 1853, Penzance School of Art, which is now part of Penwith College, was the first art school established west of Bristol.

The land was a gift by the town mayor, MP and banker, Charles Campbell Ross. The school was managed by a dynamic Frenchman, Henry Geoffroi, whose mission was to bring art to the common man and woman. In 1881 a grand, purpose-built school was opened, paid for by donations. The school was the pride of the town. Even Oscar Wilde was given a guided tour when he was lecturing nearby. This is the art school that you see today, next to the old library in Morrab Road.

Penzance School of Art can look back on an illustrious history. Not only did it help to shape Britain's art scene, but it has encouraged students with a passion for the arts to express their creativity. In 1984 Penzance School of Art was taken on by Cornwall County Council as an adult education centre. This responsibility was transferred to Penwith College in 1995.

Today, Penzance School of Art offers creative courses for all ages and abilities during the day and in the evening. Many courses are run by talented practising artists and craftspeople and their students thrive thanks to the high standards set. New courses are introduced each year along with some traditional favourites. Find your perfect course here.

TAI CHI

T'ai Chi

Each lesson we start with a relaxed warm up circling all the joints from the head to the toes which is gentle and non-taxing and helps prepare the body for the training session. Then we practice some K'ai Men (Open Door) which is Taoist Yoga, it opens the meridian pathways to enhance the chi flow using deep breathing and stretching. Each week we will work on the movements from the Dance and the Form and after 10 weeks we will aim to have learned 10 moves from each. There are videos available to practice at home as well. We train in partners using the principles of T'ai Chi TO, learn what chi is and how to store it and we develop skills to help our balance and to stay flexible under pressure so relieving stress.

ARCHAEOLOGY

Introduction to Archaeology

This course offers a fantastic insight into the role of archaeologists and the process of archaeology, starting from initial research to site identification, excavation and survey and analysis and interpretation of the archaeological evidence. We look at material culture, famous sites and discuss some of the scientific techniques and tools available to archaeologists to help us understand our fascinating human history. The course is 3 hours per week with potential for field trips to sites and local heritage institutions (weather and time permitting).

Topics covered include:

- The history of Archaeology
- Case Studies on chronological periods: Stone Age, Bronze Age, Iron Age and Romans
- Archaeological Survey and Excavation
- Material Culture - interpretation and analysis

BEEKEEPING

Introduction to Beekeeping

The course teaches the basics required to enable students to start beekeeping. It is a theory course as students would be unable to appreciate practical aspects of beekeeping until they have this theory. Topics covered include:

- equipment needed to keep bees
- the life-cycle of the honeybee
- the importance of bees to the farming economy and ecology in general
- the collection, processing and bottling of honey
- bee diseases
- choosing a hive
- comparing different hive types and understanding the inner workings of the hive
- locating a hive
- swarm control and prevention

The tutor has over 20 years' experience keeping bees and can be contacted directly on 01872 501313 if you have any further questions.

Please note the Saturday class is run on non-consecutive Saturdays:

Q&A

COLIN REES INTRODUCTION TO BEEKEEPING

● What is your background in education and your subject?

I have taught adults in computer environment, Project Management, technicalities of computing hardware and software.

● What inspired you to pursue a career in education?

The need for more beekeepers with a sound knowledge of what is entailed and the need to provide that information in a factual yet entertaining way.

● What part of working at Truro and Penwith College do you enjoy the most? The interaction with the students on my courses.

● What one thing about you might surprise people? I am bilingual in Welsh and English.

● What advice would you give to students who are hoping to join a course at Truro and Penwith College? Don't think you can't "do" a course for whatever reason, like age or time since last in a learning environment. When we all start from zero knowledge in a subject, we are all at the same level and can learn from one another as well as from the tutor with no criticism or disparaging comments as we are all in the same boat.

STAR
& CLASSICAL
BALLET

● What is your background in education and your subject?

I trained in the Royal Academy of Dance syllabus and hold a 2:1 Degree in Theatre and Performance and have a PGCE in Education (incorporating the Diploma in the Lifelong Learning Sector). I was a professional dance practitioner until 1983 and a semi-professional dance practitioner to date.

● What inspired you to pursue a career in education?

My career encompasses Teaching, Choreographing and Performing Dance. I am passionate that dance should be fully accessible. I am aware that dance classes for adults are not as readily available as those that cater for children. I am overjoyed at having the opportunity to provide dance tuition for those of a more mature persuasion. All my classes are light-hearted, non-pressurised and cater for all ages and abilities.

● What part of working at Truro and Penwith College do you enjoy the most? Seeing my students enjoy, progress and make friends in my classes.

● What advice would you give to students who are hoping to join a course at Truro and Penwith College? That depends on what their queries are! Speak to the bookings department and/or the tutor of the course they are looking to join for any information.
