ENGAGING TOPICS

This course gives learners the opportunity to study different types of crime, influences, the criminal justice system and criminological theories.

GREAT CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Our students become aware of a career in areas of the Criminal Justice System – the police, courts, prison and the probation service.

WHY CHOOSE THIS COURSE?

Criminology considers theories that explain why people commit crime and the types of offences carried out by individuals and groups. It also examines how our perceptions develop and change over time, and how we become aware of new forms of crime. The course also explores how the Criminal Justice System works by looking at each of its individual components in detail, including the police, courts, prison, and the probation service. Criminology has elements of Sociology, Psychology and Law and can be studied alongside these A Level subjects. It offers a fascinating insight into the world of crime, the causes of crime, and how to effectively prevent it.

This course and the qualification you will achieve is equivalent to one A Level and it has been designed to be part of a typical two-year study programme, alongside A Levels. The qualification carries UCAS points and is recognised by higher education providers as contributing to the admission requirements of many relevant courses.

WHAT WILL I LEARN?

There are four units on this course:

- Changing Awareness of Crime
- Criminological Theories
- Crime Scene to Courtroom
- Crime and Punishment

The course is assessed using a combination of internal and external methods. Two units, Criminological Theories and

Crime and Punishment, are externally assessed through formal exams. The Changing Awareness of Crime and Crime Scene to Courtroom units are internally assessed through controlled coursework.

WHERE WILL IT TAKE ME?

Successful completion of the course is a good foundation for entry into Higher Education. This applies particularly to degrees including Criminology, Sociology, Psychology and Forensic Science. The qualification allows learners to take the first steps into employment related to the Criminal Justice System such as the Police, National Probation Service, the Courts and Tribunals Service or the National Offender Management Service.
